

Virtual Quality Assurance Program Fidelity Consultations Now Available!

Outcomes promised by evidence-based practices can only be achieved if the program is delivered as it is designed, and implemented in the intended design of the program. In order to enhance the consistency of Moral Reconciliation Therapy - MRT®, Correctional Counseling, Inc. is offering virtual quality assurance services for MRT, Domestic Violence, and Trauma groups.

How It Works

Prior to the group observation, a master MRT Trainer will contact the group Facilitator in order for the Facilitator to provide any pertinent group information. This meeting also allows the Trainer to inform the Facilitator what is being evaluated and the role the Trainer will play during the virtual group. During the group session, the MRT Trainer will observe the group, looking for appropriate MRT group processes and overall fidelity to the model. Immediately following the group, the master Trainer will provide verbal feedback to the Facilitator. The feedback will focus on a description of what was observed, including both positive and corrective feedback. The Trainer will be available to answer any questions from the Facilitator. We have consultation options with or without a written report on the observation findings, including any recommendations.

How to Schedule

To book your Quality Assurance Consultation Session, call our office at (901) 360-1564 or visit our website ccimrt.com/product/virtualqaconsult/, choose which consultation option best suits your agency's needs, specify which program you're conducting (MRT, DV, or Trauma) and provide the Facilitator's contact info and group's meeting schedule. Based on Master Trainers' availability for your group's scheduled meeting time, we will arrange for a Master MRT Trainer to attend your virtual group. Once the consultation is scheduled, you'll send an invitation from your agency's video conferencing platform for CCI's Master Trainer to join your group.
